

Last week our team met with Mayor Schomish on April 7th which concluded our sprint 3. But for sprint 4, we got to converse with the mayor primarily by email with feedback from him and the town's council on our draft survey. We got feedback regarding what they liked about our survey and what words or phrases to change within the questions or answer choices to allow more inclusivity within the answers. Just additional little tweaks, nothing too complex. We also got to get a small idea that we would provide the mayor with 2 versions. One where he will be able to physically print out the survey, so we would remove the initial question of, "Do you live in landover hills" since the newsletter would be sent out to the address in the system. Compared to the more "digital" version which would be shown/sent out through their town website or facebook, etc.

All the attendees:

Emerald San, Persephone Moran, Josh Choi, Jack Miller